MAJOR WIRES STRONG PROTEST TO WASHINGTON AFTER HEARING CHAUFFEURS' STORY

Three hundred men besieged City Hall today in a protest against their summary discharge from the service of the Quartermaster Corps Depot on Massachusetts avenue.

The men claimed they had been relieved from their jobs without notice and that soldiers had taken their places.

Police officers on duty at City Hall barred the door, and a hurry call was sent for reinforcements, which arrived shortly from the City Hall avenue police station.

The men demanded to see the Mayor, and after a parley Jerome Wilson, No. 31 Westwood street, Dorchester, and Francis W. Lee, No. 55 Calumet street, Dorchester, were taken into the executive office by Secretary Edward Moore.

Following the demonstration, the Mayor sent a telegram to Secretary of War Baker, demanding relief for the men.

Major Peters' telegram to the Secretary of War was as follows:

"A large number of members of the Motor Transportation Corps of the Depot Quartermaster Corps have been discharged this morning, without notice, and have appealed to me to protest against their treatment, to Washington.

"Their places have apparently been taken by enlisted men brought in from other sections of the country. A large number of these discharged men were formerly in the service with us, and are residents of this locality.

"Such treatment is distinctly unfair to them, an unnecessary hardship, and complicates the problems of the transition period. The Federal government should consider our position and operate with as much justice to the men in this locality as was afforded with the necessary operation of the army.

"The present situation seems to be due to a complete disregard of the unfortunate complications that are certain to follow such action."

Conroy called into office the captain of every division in which public dance halls are found and asked them to meet him to take active measures in making the law and closing such any objectionable features.
